We each have a different story, a separate path. Our likes, our dislikes, our family, friends, homes, and lives all wander down a road that leads to a unique individual with a unique aesthetic. No one else has walked the same steps as you. No one sees the world exactly the same way. Colors speak to you like they do to no one else. Textures, patterns, and shapes all have meaning. They remind you of steps you have taken, experiences that have guided you, shaped you. Your home should be a culmination of these footsteps, these memories. It should comfort you, encourage you, and provide rest from your journey. It should tell your story. Selecting the perfect upholstery is a great beginning. At Smith Brothers, our goal is to connect you with pieces that not only offer the perfect comfort for your preferences, but tell others who you are without words. Let Smith Brothers help you do you!

Let every element of your home speak to who you are. Every nook and cranny of your room should tell the story of you. This is your space, your life. Fill it with good, with love, with peaceful surroundings that are the very essence of home to you. No one does home like you.

Some may call you bold or loud. You like the idea of constant change. You are always looking for something new and exciting to involve yourself in. You fill life with color to reflect the vibrant energy around you. Your house is truly a place to charge your batteries.

Calm. Quiet. Peaceful. Your week was anything but that. Life is hectic. Home needs to be a haven. Put away the paperwork. Sure, "there's a place for everything and everything has its place," but the housework is done. Sit down. Read that book.

Reliable. Your favorite word. You do not see yourself as "trendy." You simply want the important things around you to stand the test of time. It is not too much to ask. You do not want to be bothered by the need to frequently change things. They should be...reliable.
